

Will You Let Labor and Liberal
Burn Our Homes to Power Yours?

DON'T LET THIS HAPPEN TO OUR FORESTS

The logging industry plans to build polluting power stations that would see millions of tonnes of native forests woodchipped and burnt...to send electricity into our homes. And the Labor and Liberal parties support them.

The Labor Government's Renewable Energy legislation wrongly includes power stations burning wood from native forests alongside real renewables like wind, solar and wave power. So, logging companies can get tax-payer subsidies to woodchip and burn our forests and call it renewable energy. They claim that it is just 'forest waste' that will be burnt but this is a big lie.

These power stations would:

- Lock in clearfelling and woodchipping.
- Threaten our precious forest wildlife.
- Compete with real renewables.
- Produce more carbon emissions per unit of energy than burning coal
- Release toxic particulates that threaten human health.

Contact your local Liberal and Labor party members and ask them to rule out burning native forests for electricity.
